Hughes Aide Tells Of Visit to F.D.R.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — John Meyer, Howard Hughes' party-throwing publicity man, told Senators today he visited the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at Hyde Park about election time in 1944. With Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, seated a few feet behind him, Meyer was testifying before the Senate war investigating committee at its inquiry into $40,000,000 of wartime airplane contracts awarded to Hughes.

Meyer said he had been told by an Army colonel that young Roosevelt had been asked to remain in Europe until after the election.

He was accompanied to Hyde Park, Meyer related, by a "Col. Shoop" and his wife, a "Col. Brooks" and a "Col. Hoover." The officers were not otherwise identified immediately.

Previously, in testimony given the committee in closed session, Meyer had said that Elliott Roosevelt, then on duty with the Air Corps in Europe, had written his family suggesting that several friends of his in this country be invited to Hyde Park. He went along on that invitation, Meyer said.

The committee has heard testimony that Meyer entertained the President's son with a round of New York night club parties in 1943 at the time Roosevelt was drafting a report recommending that the Air Corps purchase Hughes' F-11 photo-reconnaissance plane.

SPENT $5000
That recommendation reversed a previous decision and brought an order to Hughes for 100 planes, the committee has been told.

Meyer's expense accounts, given the committee, show expenditures of more than $5000 purportedly for entertainment of Elliott Roosevelt and his friends.

In addition to this spending, the committee heard from Meyer today that he bought a handbag for screen actress Faye Emerson, wife of Elliott Roosevelt, a year after the decision on Hughes' plane. This was also charged as entertainment.

From the 1943 period — when the plane contract was let — Chairman Ferguson (R.) today jumped to Meyer's 1944 expense vouchers. At that time, the committee has heard in previous closed session testimony, there was some talk of the cancellation of Hughes' contract for the F-11 plane.

TOLD TO STAY IN EUROPE
Ferguson asked about a $38.08 bill from the Warwick Hotel in New York on Dec. 13, 1944, on which Meyer had written "Col. E. Roosevelt."

"Ferguson—'Did you know that Col. Roosevelt was coming back to the country about that time?"

Meyer—"I don't remember. I think I testified in closed session that I got a letter from him saying he was coming back."

Ferguson asked about the officers who accompanied Meyer to Hyde Park.

Ferguson—Do you remember that they came and Col. Roosevelt did not come because he was asked to remain in Europe until after the election.

Meyer—Yes, that's correct. I think Col. Shoop told me that.

When Ferguson asked why Meyer had put down Roosevelt's name when the latter was not in the country, the country the witness said:

"Where are the vouchers that I entertained him, after the election?"

As Meyer testified, Elliott Roosevelt was waiting to give his story of how and why he reversed an Army Air Forces rejection of Hughes' photo reconnaissance plane, and recommended that the government contract to buy it.

ORDERED TO MOVE

As the hearing resumed, Hughes Atty. Thomas A. Slack took a seat beside Meyer at the witness table. Chairman Ferguson (R.) of Michigan, asked him to move unless he had some specific advice to give Meyer, adding:

"We may want someone else to sit there."

The committee has indicated it wants to question Meyer and Roosevelt side by side.

Among other things, the committee wants to ask Elliott:

1.—On what basis he decided that Hughes' plane, still not in use by the Army after costing about $22,000,000 in government funds as well as a chunk of Hughes' own money, would be "the most suitable" for photo work in Europe.

2.—Whether he was influenced by $5,083.79 worth of free entertainment and an introduction to screen actress Faye Emerson, now his wife.

3.—What he knows of an abortive plan on the Hughes plane by Gen. H. H. Arnold, then chief of Army Air Forces, in less than two weeks' time in the fall of 1943.

Meyer read into the record an

In Liverpool, 12 persons were remanded on bail on charges arising from what the police prosecutor described as "anti-Jewish trouble and demonstrations" during the week-end. Many shop windows were broken and crowds shouted anti-Jewish slogans, he said. Trials were set for Thursday.

Five men at Salford, arrested on similar charges, were released on bail. These trials were set for next Monday. The prosecutor there said 28 anti-Jewish incidents occurred during the week-end and quoted two of the defendants as shouting, "Serves them right" and "I've got a brother out there."

Fines were levied against three laborers in Manchester for throwing bricks through shop windows and being drunk and disorderly. Police officer testified one of the men was yelling "Now is the time to strike—down with the Jews."

Meanwhile daylight disclosed further damage done to synagogues during the night in other parts of England.

After a noisy crowd had been seen near a Ramsgate synagogue, it was discovered that six windows were shattered. Notice boards were torn down and more windows smashed in a suburban London synagogue.

In Manchester, a crowd of about 400 persons surrounded an assembly hall where Jews were holding a dance and kept them penned inside for several hours, while other demonstrators hurled rocks through windows of Jewish stores and shouted: "Down with the Jews."

Earlier in London anti-Jewish demonstrators smashed windows in an East End synagogue and police halted a Jewish ex-servicemen's outdoor meeting after onlookers had shouted threats at the participants.

8 Jews, One a Girl, Kill Haifa Bank Manager

JERUSALEM, Aug. 4 (AP)—Eight young Jews, including a girl, killed a Jewish official and wounded the Jewish manager of Barclay's Bank in Haifa today and escaped with $5200.

The fresh violence came after the Jewish underground issued a statement saying: "We have not yet settled our hanging account with the British." They threatened new hangings.

Last week two British sergeants, who had been kidnapped and held hostages for two weeks, were hanged near Natanya.

The bank robbers escaped in a taxi. Crowds outside the bank first tried to stop the escape, but dispersed when shots were fired into the air.

World War I Vet Elected by DAV

A drive by veterans of World War II to seize leadership of the Mass. Dept., Disabled American Veterans, failed when Anthony D. Tieso of Mattapan, World War I veteran and former national chief of staff of the organization, was elected State commander on the first ballot at the 26th convention at Hotel Bradford.

The election of officers was highlighted by a face-slapping, hair-pulling contest between the wives of two other candidates for high office in the department.

One of the wives, irred at the victory comments of the other, started the battle, and they were staging a lively bout until their husbands appeared on the scene and quieted them.

Mrs. Leita M. Lindsey of Ellis ave., Medford, a past commander of Chapter 55 and Gold Star member of Chapter 63, was elected commander of the DAV Women's Auxiliary. The auxiliary elected its entire slate with no untoward incidents reported.

New CIO Bid Expected To Avert Ford Strike

DETROIT, Aug. 4 (AP)—An official of the CIO United Auto Workers said today that the union had a new proposal which it hoped would avert a strike of 107,000 Ford employees.

Richard T. Leonard, UAW-CIO vice-president, did not reveal terms of the new suggestion which he said was to be offered to the company at a last-ditch negotiating session.

The strike was scheduled for noon Tuesday. Leonard's statement came moments after the company delegation announced that it had no new plans for averting the threatened walkout, which would be the first major strike in the auto industry in 17 months.

The two sides are at odds over a pension plan and contract terms to protect the union against penalty provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Henry Ford II, youthful head of the big auto firm, declined to attend the last scheduled session, although he cut short a vacation to return here.

Maine Pair Admit Hitchhike Slaying

By JOHN HICKEY AND DONALD MacPHAIL

A baby-faced blonde and her husband, hitch-hikers from Kittery, Me., today confessed at Las Vegas, Nev., to the lure-murder of a man who befriended them, in a plot to rob him of his money and automobile. The couple, branded by authorities as the most callous pair ever interrogated at Las Vegas, were identified as Joseph L. Hardy, 24, of Manson rd., Kittery, Me., and his wife, Lois, 22, a native of Tennessee.

PLEADS FOR DOG — Earl Quinlan, 5, of Pearl st., Somerville, who has been ill for the past 15 months with rheumatic fever, watches out a window for the possible return of his pet shepherd-collie dog, Bobby, who disappeared last Friday. The boy's parents have appeared to all agencies for aid in recovering the lost pet.

Police said the couple plotted the death of a man who gave them a ride on a California highway last Wednesday, then paid for their lodgings and offered to help the youth get a job. The day following the killing, officers said, the couple became man and wife in a hasty ceremony before a justice of the peace in Las Vegas.

The sheriff's investigators identified the victim as James W. McLain, 48, an employee of the Veterans' Administration Hospital in San Fernando, Cal.

Their confessions came after they were lodged in jail cells following an automobile accident, and they had exchanged love letters police said.

These letters contained a boast that the couple had committed three other slayings in Louisiana, Missouri and Chicago, and this story is being checked with authorities in those areas, police said.

McLain's body was found by California highway patrolmen near Hirschdale, Cal., a short distance from Truckee. His papers contained the name of a brother-in-law R. E. Mariett of Bakersfield, Cal., to whose home he was traveling for a visit when he was killed.

The joint confession of the couple was related to the Boston Evening American by Sheriff Glen Jones and his investigator, A. Hugh Kennedy. They said the bride and groom told them the following version of the slaying:

OFFERS RIDE

"We were hitch-hiking on the road from San Francisco to Reno when this fellow picked us up in his new car. He said he was coming back from a vacation in Canada and would take us as far as Bakersfield.

"We told him we were going to Las Vegas to look for work and he offered to get Joe to job at the veterans' hospital where he works. We said that would be fine.

"We stopped for the night at tourist cabins and he bought us supper and paid for our cabin. During that night we figured out a scheme to knock him off and take his car.

"The next morning, which was

'Abroad at Night' Fine to Be Tested

John Roklan, 27, Nashua st., Manchester, N. H., was fined $5 in Somerville District Court today for being abroad in the night-time without giving a satisfactory account of himself.

When Roklan appealed on advice of his counsel, Judge Charles F. Godsby said he hoped the case would be carried to the State Supreme Court for a definite ruling for future guidance of lower courts. Defense Atty. John Drew argued the charge was not a crime since the statute covering it provided no sentence.

Roklan was arrested in Austin st., Somerville, after he rode up and down the street in his car, parked it and then failed to give police an adequate reason for his actions. Pending the appeal, he was released in personal recognition.

Hunt for Reds On State's Roll Looms

Philip V. Erand, chairman of the State Civil Service Commission, will move at a commission meeting this week for an investigation to determine whether there are any active Communists or disloyal elements on the Civil Service rolls in Massachusetts, it was learned today.

The probe, it was explained, would be in line with the loyalty check ordered for federal employees by President Truman.

Erand said he would seek dismissal of any State employee who was proved to be an active Communist or otherwise hostile to the American form of government. At the same time, he emphasized there would be no witch hunting or political prosecution.

He pointed out that Massachusetts Civil Service requirements were not clearly detailed with regard to loyalty conditions, and said the emphasis on this was a relatively new development.

Canadian A-Bomb Swindler Seized

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (INS)—A veteran Canadian confidence man, charged with giving an old dodge the very latest approach by selling part interest in the atomic bomb, was in the custody of police today.

Romeo Viau, 45, wanted by Canadian authorities on swindle complaints amounting to more than $200,000, was arrested in New York.

Police said he was the leader of a counterfeit gang, which "took" Dr. Maxine Brisbois for $20,000. He allegedly weaned the money from the doctor by showing him a "check for $600,000, paid by an American concern for part ownership in an atom bomb manufacturing company." He told the doctor he needed $28,000 to patent safeguards for the bomb's design. In return Dr. Brisbois said he was promised $60,000 for his aid.

Dentists' Convention Hears Army, Navy Work Assailed

Sharp criticism of the Army and Navy dental corps and a plea for extension of dental service to all the nation's children were voiced today by Dr. Sterling V. Mead of Washington, D. C., in the opening address of the 88th annual meeting of the American Dental Ass'n at Hotel Statler.

Dr. Mead, president of the Ass'n, declared that the situation in the service dental corps was so bad that Congress had intervened by passing legislation to give the Navy Corps a greater degree of autonomy. Similar congressional action was needed for the Army Corps, he said.

Discussing dental service for children, he asserted that only a fraction of the nation's boys and girls were receiving adequate dental care and that this was one of the most important problems facing the profession.

Nearly 15,000 delegates, representing 54 nations, were expected for the 5-day joint session of the Ass'n and the International Dental Congress, which is holding its first meeting since 1936.

PRaises VA PROGRAM

In his criticism of the Army and Navy dental corps, Dr. Mead praised operation of the dental program of the Veterans' Administration.

"But six months ago," he added, "the Navy held an examination to fill 700 vacancies in the Dental Corps. There was only one applicant and he passed. Now there are 700 vacancies because of resignations and there have been no applicants in response to notice for another examination."

"This shows what the men who are in civilian life, who have knowledge of what took place in the Army and Navy Dental Corps think of the service. The same condition prevails in the Army but it is much worse."

"Dentists are not likely to consider entering the Army or Navy Dental Corps under present discriminatory practices when there is a shortage of dentists and much demand in private practice for them."

Turning to the need for extension of dental services to all children in the nation, Dr. Mead urged that surveys be conducted in each community to determine dental needs of children and facilities available.

OTHER SESSIONS HELD

Many of the convention meetings are being held in Hotel Statler but other sessions, as well as scientific exhibits and health displays, are listed for Mechanics building.

Climax of the meeting will be a general session tomorrow night, at which the principal speakers will be Cong. Joseph W. Martin of North Attleboro and Cong. Leo T. Allen of Illinois, chairman of the House committee on rules.

Good news for false teeth wearers came from a meeting of the American Academy for Plastic Research in Dentistry, holding its meeting in conjunction with the joint convention.

A new plastic soft lining for false teeth to replace the present rock-hard base which can cause painful pressure on sensitive gums was presented by three outstanding specialists in plastics, Drs. A. A. Nelson, V. H. Sears and LaMar Harris.

ENDS PLATE "PARKING"

With the new soft base, dentures can be "worn constantly without distress, eliminating their removal for relief and the time-worn practice of "parking" them in a tumbler or on the bureau overnight, more than 100 plastic specialists attending the meeting were told.

The plastic lining, which will not deteriorate, hold food particles or mouth odors, will be a boon especially to old folk, sufferers from low blood pressure and anemia, and others with particularly sensitive gums, its discoverers reported.

Settle 2 Big Mill Disputes, 3d Holds Off

Union and management negotiators reached agreements on new contracts affecting 10,000 textile workers in Maine and 11,800 in Fall River, but had made no progress today toward settling the strike in Fall River of 1200 key workers in skilled trades.

At Biddeford, Me., the Textile Workers Union of America and the Peperell Mfg. Co. announced "complete agreement" on working conditions for 3000 employees in Biddeford and Lewiston.

Earlier, the same union announced a similar agreement was reached with the Bates group of mills, which consists of the Bates Hill, Continental and Androscoggin at Lewiston, the Edwards at Augusta and the York at Saco.

At another union meeting in Biddeford, TWUA members representing 3000 workers at the Saco-Lowell Textile Machinery Co. plant voted approval of a contract calling for a five-cent hourly wage boost and increased hospitalization, sickness and vacation benefits.

In Fall River, members of the TWUA voted for ratification of a new contract for 11,800 workers involving a five-cent hourly wage hike and five paid holidays. However, the strike there of mill loom tenders, knot tiers and slash tenders continues with no immediate hope of a settlement.

Hollywood Labor Probe Opens With Musicians

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4 (AP)—A congressional investigation of Hollywood labor problems opened today in the federal building here.

ANN DVORAK, HENRY FONDA, FILM STARS in Tender Scene From "The Long Night"

Star of 'Long Night' To Take Trial Role

With a man's life at stake and with the audience sitting in judgment as jurors, a dramatic mock trial will take place in Symphony Hall Wednesday evening, Aug. 13, following the first week's showing of "The Long Night," exciting film drama to be shown at the RKO Memorial Theater beginning Wednesday of this week, and at 338 other theaters throughout New England and northern New York.

The defendant at the trial will be the hero of the film—a youth driven to desperate murder in a tragedy involving the girl he loves. Those who see the film during the week will all the more appreciate the significance of the trial, and will be familiar with the background of this gripping story.

Guy Madison will be seen in the role of the defendant, replacing Henry Fonda, who plays the part in the film. Beautiful Jacqueline White will be the heroine, taking the role played on the screen by Barbara Bel Geddes, and Ann Dvorak will be here to portray the vivid role she plays in the film.

Tickets for the mock trial will go on sale at Symphony Hall during the week and will be priced from $1 to $3, all proceeds going to the Children's Hospital Fund. The trial will be broadcast from the stage of Symphony Hall between 8 and 9 p. m. over the Yankee Network, and during the presentation motion pictures will be taken of both audience and performers.

Appearing as counsel for the defense will be Atty. Herbert Callahan, noted Boston criminal lawyer whose masterly defense of Charles Russell Goodale of Onset won an acquittal for the youth following a spectacular first degree murder trial in Plymouth.

Judge Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago, famed for his roundup of the Capone gang and for assisting in bringing to justice the gunman killer John Dillinger, will be the prosecutor. The name of the presiding judge will be announced later, and the audience—spectators and radio listeners—will be the jury, and bring in the verdict of life or death.

2 Held in Car Theft Roundup, 'Brains' of Ring Still Sought

Two Revere men, arrested in a police coup said to have smashed an auto theft ring that netted $100,000 in new cars and accessories in the last six months, were under continued questioning today at Cambridge police headquarters prior to court action.

Arrest of the third member of the trio was momentarily expected.

The two arrested men were being held on suspicion of larceny of more than 20 autos and huge quantities of accessories, and officials said they had admitted complicity in the thefts. The third man sought was said to be the "brains" of the gang.

Det. Sgt. Joseph P. Breen, acting chief of the Cambridge bureau of criminal investigation, reported the first clue to the existence of the ring was obtained Saturday night when one of the Revere men was arrested and found to be in possession of 60 auto ignition keys.

CAUGHT REDHANDED

Patrolmen George Dalton and Charles Delaney of the Cambridge force virtually "cracked" the case when they arrested the suspect attempting to steal an auto in Holden st., Cambridge. Besides the master keys found in his possession, police said they also found evidence of the widespread ramifications of the ring.

Fifteen hours' questioning by Breen and other officers resulted in identification of two other men in the ring and the capture of one. The other man is believed driving a stolen car and is being sought by police throughout New England.

Both the arrested men were booked on suspicion of automobile larceny to prevent their release on habeas corpus proceedings while police continued their investigations.

USED TWO GARAGES

Breen reported that search of the arrested men's effects furnished the addresses of two garages. One was in Winthrop and in it three stolen cars were found. The other one is in Revere and one car was found there. All were driven to Cambridge police headquarters. A fifth stolen car was located for sale at a Framingham gas station.

Stolen cars were stripped and rebuilt and stamped with the engine numbers of wrecks bought in junk yards, police said. The ring had four dealer plates to use for the transfer of stolen cars, and had, in addition, blank registration papers and a rubber stamp of the signature of Motor Vehicles Registrar Rudolph King.

A diary of "futures" containing the descriptions of new cars and names and addresses of owners was also found, Breen said, probably marked for future theft.

Four cars recently stolen were sold for prices that averaged around $100 each, police said. One car, a Buick sedan on Beacon st., Back Bay, was sold to a Broadway, Everett, auto dealer, and a '41 Oldsmobile stolen in Roxbury was sold to a Framingham barber.

Mother Fights for 3 Grownup Children Kept Drugged, Caged

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 4 (INS)—A stern-visaged 72-year-old widow prepared today to "fight to the last ditch" to retain custody of her three grownup children found caged, tied, incoherent from drugs and emaciated from starvation.

SECRET BRIDE?—Intimates of Sheila Ryan, film actress, have been informing West Coast reporters that the young actress and Eddie Norris, also of the films, were married recently in Mexico. The couple deny the reports.

The widow, Mrs. Bertha Anderson, in whose home the children were found, maintained she has a right to "do what I want with them—they can't take them away from me."

Police attention was directed to the home when a neighbor reported that "something funny is going on here."

Officers found Martin Anderson, 42, locked in a shack built on the roof of a first floor extension.

Another son, Clarence, 38, was found nude and handcuffed with heavy leather straps to a cot in a small third floor attic room.

Their sister, Violet, 35, lay in a second attic room, covered with a dirt-laden rug.

When police tried to talk with her, she picked up an open can of vegetables and began eating, using the top as a spoon.

The three were removed to General Hospital in ambulances. They are in poor condition but are expected to improve. Doctors said all were suffering from malnutrition and had taken repeated doses of a drug.

It required four policemen to remove Violet from the house. Despite her emaciated condition she struggled violently and screamed, "Mama, don't let them take me."

Mrs. Anderson led police to believe that Clarence, who appeared in the best condition of the three, had been shackled to his bed for 18 years; that Martin had been confined to his room for 16 years, although allowed some freedom occasionally, and that Violet had been shut up for about two years.

Search is under way for another son, Earl, who Mrs. Anderson said gets spells once in a while but is all right most of the time and is permitted to leave the house.

A fourth son, Walter, informed police the family owns a considerable amount of Minneapolis real estate. He said his mother had asked him, about two months ago, to handle the family's financial affairs.

Police said they would question Mrs. Anderson again today and that the case probably would be turned over to probate court.

Child Sex-Killer Hunt Renewed

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP)—Investigators searched anew today for a clue to the three-month-old sex slaying of Carol Ann Thompson, 5, after a 33-year-old steelworker told them he falsely confessed the crime.

Det. Albert Murphy said John Henry Fay of McKeesport admitted he had nothing to do with the Thompson case after failing to lead officers to the spot where the child was murdered May 10.

Murphy said the spot where Fay led police near Upland, Pa., was 25 miles from the well near Norristown where Carol Ann's battered body was found an hour after her brother said she was enticed from in front of her home by a man "in a shiny car" who had promised her an ice cream cone if she would take a ride with him.

Science of A-Bomb Develops Newest Tool to Fight Cancer

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Aug. 4 (AP)—New aids for the attack on cancer have been developed with tools born of American research to produce the atom bomb.

Commenting on the Atomic Energy Commission's first detailed summary of peacetime applications of the atomic energy program, a Commission scientist said great achievements already have been made in medicine, biology and industry. But, he added, these are only infant steps toward future developments in those fields and in agriculture.

Our study of radiation from the atom is in its infancy and service—plus unexpected value.

Blueberry-Eating Gulls in Maine Cut
PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 4 (AP)—A federal and State birth control campaign against Maine's blueberry-eating herring gulls today was announced as having brought results.
Lee F. Brackett, U. S. game management agent here, reported a 45.6 per cent decrease in herring gull eggs on 29 Maine islands the past two years.
The control work consists of spraying the eggs with a water-soluble oil emulsion which seals egg pores and prevents the embryos from hatching. The birds will relay if their eggs are destroyed during the incubation period.

"These clubs will give us the means of exposing the Communist for what he truly is—a spy, cunning enemy."
Through these clubs we will educate our members—and others as well—to the ways in which communists work.

4 Bay Staters Drowning Victims

Four persons, including a 14-year-old girl, were drowned at beach resorts in New England. Caesar Gomes, 26, of Bertine st., Onset, was drowned 30 feet off shore at White Island Pond, Plymouth, while on a birthday picnic with friends. He was stricken with cramps and sank in a deep hole. Members of the Plymouth Fire Dept. recovered his body. Alice Barcello, 14, of Hathaway rd., New Bedford, sank while swimming at Fort Phoenix, Fairhaven. Her body was found floating face down near a raft. Attempts to revive her with an inhalator failed. Two Roxbury men, Edward

Goode, 28, of Shawmut ave., and Ollie Douglis, 21, of Tremont st., were drowned when their canoe capsized in a pond off Pine Island Park in Manchester, N. H. Trains Stalled as Bridge In Mountains Burns CANON CITY, Col., Aug. 4 (INS)—The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Bridge over the famous Royal Gorge near here was badly damaged by a fire, blocking all rail traffic over the route. The blaze was believed to have started from a picnic fire at the west end of the bridge. One passenger train passed over the bridge just before the fire started, but several freight trains were stopped on both sides.

Air Pilot's Secrecy Veils New Flying Disc Mystery

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 4 (INS)—Capt. Eddie H. Smith, United Airlines pilot who reported trailing several flying discs weeks ago, was leading man in another disc mystery today and was as elusive as any flying saucer.

Smith came to Tacoma with Kenneth Arnold, Boise businessman who first saw the saucers, to investigate a disc or some object reportedly crashing into a small boat near Tacoma. (At Boise, the Idaho Statesman said Capt. Smith had given the pilot and co-pilot killed in an Army bomber crash near Kelo, Wash., Friday, "six pieces of metal or lava" to take back with them to Hamilton Field, Cal., for investigation.)

Smith, denying his visit had anything to do with "discs," said he was on personal business and couldn't talk. He then checked out of his hotel quarters and vanished.

United Airlines officials said they knew nothing of the matter, but at Hamilton Field a fourth air force official verified that Capt. William L. Davidson, San Francisco, and Lt. Frank M. Brown, Vallejo, Cal., killed in the B-25 crash Friday, were Army investigators who had flown north to interview Capt. Smith, Arnold and others concerning the discs.

The air field spokesman denied suggestion that the ill-fated bomber was returning with highly secret materials aboard.

Attlee, Aides Meet On Dollar Crisis

LONDON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee met with his top cabinet ministers today to put the finishing touches to the plan of battle for Britain's economic survival.

"Crisis" talks—how to tackle the economic situation caused by the rapid drain on the nation's dollar credits—went on at No. 10 Downing st. throughout the day. A special economic cabinet including Attlee, Foreign Sec. Bevin, Chancellor of the Exchequer Dalton, Lord President of the Council Herbert Morrison, and Board of Trade President Sir Stafford Cripps, is doing most of the work. It will report to a full meeting of the cabinet tomorrow.

The plan will be announced by a two-day debate in the House of Commons.

Slaying

last Wednesday, he bought our breakfasts and we started off. We asked him to stop at several points for a view of the Sierra Nevada mountains, but at each place we halted we were not able to go through with our plan.

TELLS OF KILLING

"Once we halted at a state park but too many people were around. But we did see a likely spot down the mountain where a side road led off by a river into lonely country." At this point, the young bride allegedly gave the following version of how the benefactor met his death:

"When we drove away from the park, I began to show this guy that I was falling for him. Joe kept looking out the window and talked about the scenery. We stopped near the side road we had picked out and Joe said he wanted to go for a walk in the country side.

"As soon as he was out of sight, I pulled out a blanket and spread it just off this lonely road. I sat down with this guy. Joe circled around through the wood, and came back quietly.

"I threw my arms around his neck and pulled him down on the blanket and started kissing him. I held his head down close against me so he couldn't see anything. Joe sneaked up behind and fired right on top of him but from one side and the bullet went into his head near the left ear.

"I was holding him and I yelled to Joe that he was still alive. I rolled him over on the blanket. Joe fired another shot between his eyes and a third into his left eye. Then I picked up a rock and crashed it down on his head.

BURY BODY

"We rolled the body in a blanket and buried it about 20 feet from this spot. But first, we took his two watches, about $200 in cash, and another $200 in traveler's checks."

The weapon used was identified by police as a .38-caliber revolver. They said the youth claimed he bought it from a soldier at a bus depot in Reno, and the girl claimed she got it from a soldier in Reno as a gift on a date.

Their story to the sheriff and his investigator continues:

"We drove off in the new car and got to Las Vegas late that night. The following morning, which was last Thursday, we were married at 7:30 a. m. by Justice of the Peace Harvey MacDonald."

Kennedy said that one hour after the wedding ceremony was completed, at 9:10 a. m., their car crashed into a pole in the suburb of Whitney and the bride was knocked into semi-consciousness and suffered a dislocated right shoulder.

HUSBAND FLEES

Her husband fled on foot and hitch hiked a ride for some five miles from where he left his bride dazed and groaning. Bystanders told police the direction he fled and his description and he was picked up by a patrol car within an hour.

To explain their possession of the new car, with McLain's name on the ownership papers, Kennedy said both the boy and girl at first stuck to the following story

"We were in a gambling spot near here and our luck was running good. Joe had about $2300 in cash. The fellow next to him was getting cleaned out and offered to sell his new car for $1900. Joe gave him the cash and the fellow gave him the keys and papers. That's the last we saw of him."

The sheriff's office was not satisfied and learned from McLain's relatives that he had been in Canada on vacation during this period. The couple were lodged in separate cells on the same floor of the county jail.

REFERS TO KILLINGS

They asked a guard to carry notes from one to the other and thought they had made a friend of him, police said. Instead, he turned the notes over to the sheriff and they were photostated before delivery.

Sample notes, from the husband, were quoted as:

"Keep mum, honey, they haven't got a thing on us . . . Our score in murder so far is three successful, in Louisiana, Missouri and Chicago". One failure in Las Vegas . . . when we got out of here we'll take care of these coppers.

"We sure had that redhead baffled. It served him right to think he could give you some loving for a couple of meals and his lousy car."

One note from the girl was quoted as:

"Don't take any honey from these coppers. We'll fix them like we did the others."

Investigator Kennedy said the couple then went on to tell him they had been on the road since last June, when they met in Portsmouth, N. H. He said they told of living by their wits and robbing several gasoline stations and staging other petty holdups.

Best source of revenue they had, Kennedy related, was a frameup they engineered around drinking spots. The girl would lure a man from the bar into an alley, where her mate would be waiting with a club to knock him unconscious and take his wallet and jewelry, according to Kennedy.

The investigator asserted the girl boasted to him that she could "get out of any rap she ever was in by looking up at the judge with her baby face and showing the most polite manners in the courtroom." He described her as the worst of the pair, "the most cold blooded and brazen."

FOLLOWED SAILORS

Kennedy said the girl had been following sailors and this took her to Portsmouth. Hardy, he said, was given a dishonorable discharge from the Army and then served a year in jail at Hartford, Ct., on charges of auto theft and petty thievery.

He was discharged from jail last May, and within a month had gone to his home in Kittery, across the river from Portsmouth. In a trip to Portsmouth he met up with Lois and the pair set out on their cross-country trip.

Kennedy said both mentioned by name several of the gaudier drinking places in Boston and said they got their first big stakes in Boston by staging their love frameup on sailors and drunks lured into alleys. From Boston they went to Utica and then west, Kennedy said.

The couple will be arraigned in court on charges of being fugitives from justice in California, Kennedy said, and other charges may grow out of an investigation of the other three claimed murders.

Hardy first gave an address in Exeter, N. H., but his true address was learned when he wrote to his mother in Kittery following the murder confession, the investigator said.

He told in the letter that he was "having a fine time and seeing the sights and would write again soon," Kennedy said.

Lawyers Seek Early Hearing On Curley Freedom Plea

Efforts were being made today to have an early date set for hearing a new motion filed Saturday in U. S. District Court in Washington, seeking freedom or a reduction of the prison sentence imposed on Mayor James M. Curley after his conviction on mail fraud charges.

Atty. Walter I. Sundlun of Providence, R. I., who filed the motion, said he had been retained by Curley and his family and by a Massachusetts citizens' committee, to aid the mayor's fight for release from the Federal prison at Danbury, Ct., where he is serving six to 18 months.

Sundlun said his associates in the case at Washington, Attys. William E. Leahy, Curley's defense lawyer at the trial, and Nicholas Chase, were following the progress of the motion and would aid in the efforts to obtain an early hearing.

Sundlun made public a memorandum, he said accompanied the motion, which sets forth that some doubt exists in the minds of certain justices as to Curley's guilt and takes issue with the opinion of Judge James M. Proctor, sentencing judge, that Curley's conviction of mail fraud and conspiracy in obtaining war contracts through Engineers' Group, Inc., was his second felony conviction. Judge Proctor ruled that this prohibited probation.

When Curley was convicted in 1937 for conspiracy against the United States by impersonating another man in a civil service examination, the act was a misdemeanor, and the law making it a felony was not passed until 1939, Sundlun said.

The Providence attorney said he did not know Curley before taking the case. He said he was approached to take the case "two days after sentence was imposed."

Forrestal Asked to Reserve
Coast Military School Sites

By RAY RICHARDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The National Defense Dept. was asked today to reserve wartime military tracts on the West Coast as possible sites of future Army and Navy academies.

Rep. Gordon McDonough (R.) of California made the request in a letter to Defense Sec. Forrestal as the three West Coast congressional delegations proceeded with plans for a campaign next year to bring the academies into being.

McDonough's letter said: "In view of the evident need of expanding the facilities for training officers of the Army and Navy beyond the present capacity of West Point and Annapolis, and believing there are many desirable sites for a naval academy and a military academy on the Pacific Coast, I suggest that you investigate the possibility of retaining the most desirable camp sites along the Pacific Coast which were used during the war for training purposes as a possible location for an additional military academy and naval academy."

"Authority to do this was granted by the Congress in the recent session."

The Congressional act to which the Californian referred was introduced by Rep. Paul Shafer, (R.) of Michigan.

It gave the new National Defense Dept. authority to retain from surplus sales land, factories and equipment necessary to the national defense.

McDonough, Sen. Magnuson, (D.) of Washington, and Rep. Lowell Stockman, (R.) of Oregon, are among those actively engaged in plans for a tri-state congressional meeting on the West Coast in November.

Purpose of the meeting is to arouse public interest in the national need of West Coast Army and Navy academies and to plan strategy in House and Senate when Congress reconvenes in January.

Death Battles With Dope Runners, Moonshiners Told

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Treasury said today its agents tracking down dope smugglers and moonshiners met desperado violence this spring reminiscent of "the old rum-running days."

Two investigators were slain from ambush and one squad of "T-men" had their car riddled by bullets while shooting it out with dope smugglers on the California-Mexico border.

Two—possibly three—of the smugglers were wounded fatally although they lived long enough to escape into Mexico, the Treasury said. The agents were untouched.

The Treasury also told why it failed to get its men in some cases. These men were rubbed out in warfare within and between gangster groups.

"The situation was particularly tense along the U. S.-Mexican border, where rival gangs were battling for power at the same time that U. S. and Mexican authorities were conducting a vigorous campaign to break up their activities," the department's annual summary of enforcement activities related.

Details of the gun fight with dope smugglers on the border seven miles west of Calexico, Calif., were presented in full for the first time.

Narcotic and customs bureau chiefs Harry J. Anslinger and Edson J. Shamhart told it this way:

Officers keeping watch on the annual harvest of the illicit opium crop in Mexico learned that huge amounts were being offered for sale in Calexico.

A seasoned undercover agent appeared in Calexico equipped with a background as a big Hollywood buyer of narcotics. Rival Mexican dope smuggling outfits went after his business in fierce competition.

After lengthy negotiations one gang promised to deliver 138 cans at a place 50 yards north of the boundary.

As delivery was being made concealed officers sprang out. The smugglers opened fire, supported by confederates. The gunfire continued until the smugglers fled across the border, carrying their casualties. The opium bearer and his sack of narcotics were captured.

British Officers' Hotel In Vienna Bombed

VIENNA, Aug. 4 (AP)—Two bombs exploded today in a small basement room of the Sachers Hotel, transient hotel for high British officers.

No one was injured and the damage was estimated at less than $400. The British spokesman was unwilling to assign any reason for the blasts.

Cadets, Midshipmen Off For Amphibious Training

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 4 (INS)—The West Point class of 1949—590 strong—sailed aboard the Army transport Gen. Taylor to join the Annapolis class of '49 for Operation "Camid II," joint amphibious exercises with the amphibious forces of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet in the Chesapeake Bay area.

Purpose of the operation, which signals the recent service unification, is to afford corresponding classes of the service academies an opportunity to become acquainted. The word "Camid," coined last summer with the inauguration of the joint training, signifies the combination of cadets and midshipmen.

Miner Slays Neighbor Over Boys' Fighting

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP)—A miner who calmly ate his dinner while he described to police the shooting of his neighbor as the outgrowth of quarrels between their children was held in jail today.

Asst. County Det. Lawrence Haggerty said Paul Johnson, 38, would be charged with murder in the death of Lester Miller, 34, a lumberman of nearby Davidson Hill.

Miller died on the back porch of Johnson's home from a shotgun blast in the chest which ripped away the right side of his heart.

WAITING FOR POLICE

Haggerty said Johnson waited in the house for police to arrive, then told them:

"I've just changed my clothes. I knew you'd come for me."

The detective said the miner sat down to his evening meal and while eating recited the particulars of a feud of more than four years caused by the battling between children in the two families.

Haggerty said Johnson told him he shot Miller with a 12-gauge shotgun after his son, Paul, Jr., shouted to him: "Mr. Miller is breaking the down down."

WARNED VICTIM

The detective quoted Johnson as saying he warned Miller to "Get off the porch or I'll blow you off," and when Miller retorted: "Come on out, I'm not afraid," he fired the fatal shot.

Haggerty said the immediate cause of the shooting was a fight earlier in the day between Paul, Jr., and Gerald Miller, 10.

He quoted Gerald as telling him:

"Paul beat me up for nothing, so I hit Thomas (Johnson, 8) for nothing and bloodied his nose. When my dad saw blood on my shirt he went to the Johnson house to ask Mr. Johnson why the kids fight with us."

Miller was the father of four children and Johnson has six.

Ill Boy Pleads Lost Dog Return

Someone may be able to bring joy to the heart of a five-year-old boy, a victim of rheumatic fever for 15 months, by finding and returning his pet shepherd collie, Bobby, missing since Friday.

The ill boy is Earl Quinlan of Pearl st., Somerville, who has appealed through his parents for help in finding his pet.

His parents admit it is possible Bobby is exploring new subway terminals to conquer. Three months ago Bobby dared to challenge a four-car Elevated train in the Sullivan sq. terminal, and suffered only a lacerated nose in the encounter.

The collie was given to Earl last April on his fifth birthday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Quinlan.

About 100 persons, including her daughter, Julia 7, watched with horror as Mrs. Maria Batista, 27, turned herself into a human torch.

Relatives told police the young woman "had been despondent for some time."

Police Sgt. John L. Deas said Mrs. Batista painted "her entire body" with the paint thinner on the back porch of her home.

Then, he said, she ignited her dress with two matches.

As the flames snot up from her clothing, she dashed into the back yard. Her screams brought on-lookers, one of whom, Chick Ramon, ripped off his shirt, then his trousers and finally a quilt from a clothesline in an effort to smother the blaze.

Still conscious, the woman moaned to her would-be rescuer: "Don't. I want no more life."

The woman was rushed to Jacksonville Memorial Hospital, where, with 99 per cent of the skin of her face and body burned to a crisp, she died a short time later.

The wife of a chef, Mrs. Batista came to Miami a year ago from Cuba.

Condolences Pour in On Pres. Berreta Death

MONTEVIDEO, Aug. 4 (INS)—The death of President Tomas Berreta, 72, brought a flow of condolences from the world's capitals to members of his family and the Uruguayan government.

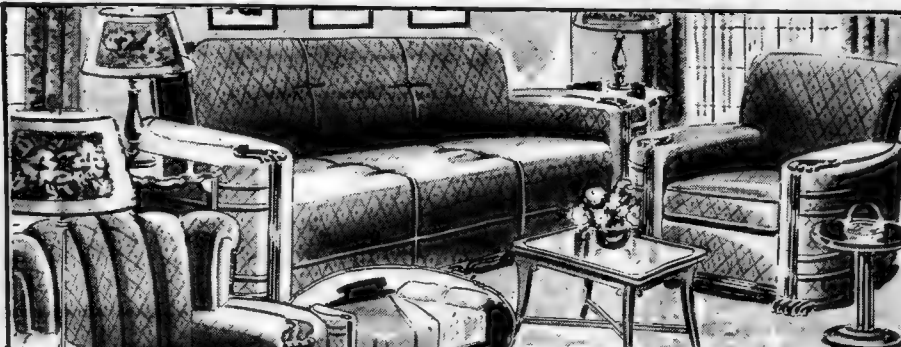

Berreta, a staunch supporter of inter-American co-operation, died Saturday night despite an 11th hour operation. The son of an Italian immigrant father and an Argentine mother, the leader of the Colorado Party had served as President only five months.

Taft Wants Europe Loans Limited to Vital Needs

MONTREAL, Aug. 4 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, en route to Murray Bay, Que., with his wife on a month's holiday, said United States loans to European countries should be limited to absolute needs for raw materials and other requisites of rebuilding.

The Ohio Senator said it would be possible to judge better the merits of the Marshall plan for European aid "when we know what is is—he hasn't explained it fully yet."

CALLING THE OFFICE

... Part of the Summer
Long Distance Load

Regardless of the scenery, lots of business men aren't quite happy on vacation unless they call the office now and then. And we're not happy unless we get those calls through as fast as possible.

This summer we have more central office equipment and more Long Distance circuits than a year ago. We're putting most calls through promptly, but in the popular resort areas in the popular calling hours there may still be some delays.

BEST TIMES TO CALL. If you're on vacation in New England, you'll get faster service and local business men will appreciate your courtesy if you'll try to call your office afternoons—not mornings when Long Distance lines are busier. Outside of office hours, best times to call are early evening, before 7, or any time on Sundays.

2 Girl Friends Jailed With Bandit Pair

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 4 (INS)—Two youthful bandits and their teen-age girl friends were remanded to jail after waiving examination on charges of robbery, grand larceny, and unlawful possession of a weapon.

Earlier the quartet led police a wild chase through three counties during the course of which they held up a tavern and stole two cars.

All from Philadelphia, they are identified as Elaine Pole, 16; Jeanne Abeock, 17; James R. Hazlett, 19, and Julius Berse, 19.

Police said the four left Philadelphia Friday night in a car, declaring they intended to get married. They spent the night at a tourist cabin.

They stopped at the Berkshire Restaurant near Pawling, N. Y., where they robbed the proprietor of $150 and fled. The girls reportedly were in the car when this took place.

Stopped shortly afterward by a police officer, the boys produced identification papers and the registration for the car. They drove away with a sigh, but however, that the officer was suspicious and pursued.

Forced to abandon one car, the four stole another but eventually were caught. Not, however, before one youth fired at troopers and they answered his shot.

Bangor Fire Loss Set at $500,000

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 4.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the freight house of the Maine Central Railroad here with a loss estimated by officials at more than $500,000.

The freight house, a one-story wooden structure 580 feet long and 35 feet wide, was filled with miscellaneous goods. The amount on hand, officials said, was considerably larger than usual because of the heavy shipments now being made by rail because of the truck strike in Maine. Practically nothing which was in the building can be salvaged, officials said.

More than 50 cars of other freight adjacent to the burning building were hauled to safety by switching crews.

GUARDIANS OF OUR SHORES

AMONG THE LASTING achievements of Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary of the Treasury and one of the greatest, was the establishment of the United States Coast Guard. Under the name of Revenue Marine, this branch of service came into being on August 4, 1790.

Hamilton was distressed over the loss of Federal revenue because of smuggling—a serious item when our young government depended heavily upon import duties for its financial sustenance.

The sum of $10,000, appropriated by Congress, provided for a fleet of ten boats, each with a crew of eight.

Successful in the repression of smuggling, the Coast Guard became an adjunct to merchant shipping, in which several other services have since been merged.

The International Ice Patrol is an extension of the original coastal establishment. Likewise, in war, the Coast Guard became an effective arm of the Navy.

It served against the French in 1797, in the War of 1812, in the Seminole War, in the Mexican War, in the War Between the States, and in World War I.

In World War II, its scope was global and its record was resplendent, extending from Guadalcanal and Okinawa to Africa and Normandy. Nine hundred and sixty-nine Guardsmen won Purple Hearts and 2123 of their number were killed in action.

As a peacetime coastal agency, it is estimated that the Coast Guard SAVES 9000 LIVES ANNUALLY.

This 157th anniversary of the United States Coast Guard is an appropriate time to remind America of its unrivaled services and to bespeak for the Coast Guard from Congress and the public the support which it should have.

REDS ON MARCH

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE should not snugly deceive themselves that there is no substantial menace in Communism.

The apparent numerical weakness of Communists in the United States, said Mr. R. H. Markham of Boston, before the annual convention of Lions International in San Francisco, is a deception on their part and a delusion on ours.

"There are more active Communists in California, in proportion to the population," he declared, "than there were in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Romania OR RUSSIA before the Communists seized power there."

"They, along with their Red comrades in more than 60 lands, are engaged in a MOSCOW-LED WORLD OFFENSIVE."

"It is directed chiefly AGAINST THE UNITED STATES."

Every American should be made to realize, as Mr. Markham warned the San Francisco convention, that the REDS ARE ON THE MARCH with the intent of destroying the United States; and especially should be made to understand HOW THEY PROPOSE TO ACCOMPLISH THIS PURPOSE.

The real measure of the true strength of Communism in the United States, Mr. Markham said, is in the fact that:

"It works through international organizations of women, youth, laborers, journalists, students. It works through innocent appearing local fronts with which America teems—especially California."

The American people must not lull themselves into having a sense of false security about Communists, for as Mr. Markham further said:

"Their 'people's fronts' are FAKES. Their 'people's governments' are SHAMS. Their labor unions are TRAPS for ensnaring workers. Their schools are institutions for PROPAGANDA. Their universities serve as MOLDS FOR MEN'S MINDS, and turn out intellectuals that are among the most craven of history's diplomated sycophants."

THE TRUTH about Communism has seldom been better expressed or more courageously and authoritatively told than in this forthright speech by Mr. Markham, and in giving it attentive hearing Lions International has admirably lived up to the high patriotic principles it professes and serves.

THE NAME OF a Seattle organization, specializing in the sale of surplus property is "The Three G's." It is made up of three war veterans who started with a borrowed capital of $1700 which they have increased 58 times! They now have two tent stores in Seattle and one in Portland, Ore. Much of the success of these three young fellows is due to their highly clever and original advertising campaign.

ASKING. Queries From Clients. Q—Do you remember Ada Overton Walker singing, "Adam Never Had No Mammy?" A—

Can't say I do. Must have been before my time. Sounds as if it might have been an entertaining ditty. Q—Why is northern New England called "Down East." A—That I should know but I don't. Q—What became of that Chicago character known as "Boo Boo Hoff?" A—Don't know what became of "Boo Boo" but he was not from Chicago but Philadelphia. He was active in the Quaker City around the time of the first Dempsey-Tunney fight.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Let's settle that argument about the country's largest bowling alley establishment. Isn't it the Recreation Alleys in Baltimore, Md., which has 100 alleys? ... Add members: My Name is a Poem Club: Elsie Kelsey, Montclair, N. J.; Meri Flert, New York city. ... Among the villains in Pearl White's serial, "The Exploits of Elaine," was Lionel Barrymore. The other two actors who portrayed heels making life difficult for the heroine were Sheldon Lewis and Edwin Arden.

OVER THERE: The League of Frustrated Fiances. That's the name of an organization in England made up of British girls who have become engaged to German prisoners of war but are forbidden by law to marry them. The slogan of the L. F. F. is, "It is against nature to legalize against love." In Chicago a poll was taken of a number of school children to ascertain their likes and dislikes. An unusual number of kiddies said they didn't like dentists. When asked why one youngster said: "Well, dentists are always telling kids it won't hurt and it does hurt."

HORSES AND WOMEN: "Throughout history frail women have fascinated men, deceived them and been forgiven." That's what a British judge commented in a recent divorce suit in sympathizing with the husband in the case. His Honor said men were more forgiving and sentimental than women. He also expressed the view most women appear not satisfied to be loved by one man but desired the attentions of many. He said it was not because they felt it was immoral to be disloyal that restrained many married women from being untrue but a fear of the consequences. He concluded by quoting Alexander Pope as follows:

Some men to business
Others to pleasure take
But every woman
Is at heart a rake.
(Note—Opinions on the female of the species reported here are not necessarily shared by our Horses and Women experts. In this case our experts agree with the judge only on one point: That men are more forgiving and sentimental than women.)

SIDEGLITS: My membership in the Young Old Timers was further endangered when I stated I recalled Joan Crawford and Sally O'Neil played two of the title roles in the original film, "Sally, Irene and Mary," but I couldn't recall the third featured female. It was Constance Bennett. . . . Writes a young woman of Seattle: "Men with mustaches are nearly always well under six feet in height with alter egos. They think they are irresistible. I can't stand them myself."

DOGS AGAIN: Detroiters says his springer spaniel growls and barks angrily when offered beer which he refuses disdainfully but when invited to sip a highball he wags his tail vigorously and laps up the liquor enthusiastically. Very interesting. However, I hope this dog's love of strong drink is not encouraged. Our springer was given some whisky to cure a chill some time ago. He liked it. Now every now and then he glances at the liquor on the sideboard and looks at me as much to say: "How's about a little snifter, Boss?" I am afraid these springer spaniels are inclined toward waywardness. You have to use a firm hand with them or you will have a juvenile delinquent on your hands.

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1937, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE ANCIENT METHOD of imperialism was to conquer an area, perhaps to seize it, certainly to colonize it, to establish ports, and to exploit the region and its people commercially. The Phoenicians thus established Carthage; the Greeks dotted the Mediterranean with a thousand cities; Alexander tried to hold the known world of his day; the Roman legions marched through Europe, Asia and Africa, wherever they could. Imperialism is as old as history; colonization is one of the earliest organized efforts of man.

George E. Sokolsky

In more modern times, Great Britain, France, Spain and Holland made the world smaller by vast colonization and imperialistic projects in every part of the world. The Western European system involved the bringing of weak and backward peoples into the economic and cultural orbit of western civilization.

As in the instances of North and South America, Australia, New Zealand and Central Africa, it meant opening altogether new and hitherto unknown areas to contact with Europe. In the instances of such countries as India, China, Egypt, Syria, it resurrected ancient and tottering states.

THE RESURGENCE of nationalism in colonial countries today is not a condemnation of imperialism. Rather is it evidence that the impact of western civilization has benefited these peoples, has stimulated the powers of self-government, cultivated pride of culture that once had made them significant states.

Western imperialism has, on the whole, been historically beneficial to all who have lived in its atmosphere.

RUSSIAN IMPERIALISM has been essentially different. In the first place, it has dealt entirely with contiguous territory. With one exception, Alaska, the Russians crossed no vast bodies of water, met no obstacles, fought no great wars, subdued no powerful peoples to achieve their ends.

They simply snowballed. They rolled along wherever there was a weak spot. They moved across the Urals and Siberia into the maritime provinces terminating at Vladivostok because there was nothing to resist them.

Small tribes of nomadic peoples, the remnants of the golden horde of Genghis Khan were in no condition to withstand their advances. Furthermore, the Russian strain is as much Mongol as Slav, as much Tartar as European. It was easier to absorb than to conquer the Asiatics with whom they dealt. It still is easier.

The Russian southward imperialist trend encountered difficulties. The Armenians resisted. The Romanians objected to Bessarabia being taken from them. The Moslems looked toward Byzantium and Mecca rather than to Moscow. Nevertheless, all territory was contiguous. It was merely a matter of moving outward the bulkheads of empire.

By Yalta, Russia achieved her greatest advance, for that agreement gave to the Soviets the maximum aspiration of Czarist imperialism. But Yalta gave to Russia no territory, except perhaps the Kuriles, which do not lie contiguous to Russian soil and the Kuriles are only separated by a narrow body of water.

THE SOVIET METHOD of imperialistic control is different from that of any western country, although it is not dissimilar to the spread of the United States from 13 separated colonies to 48 federated states. The "federation" system—the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics—might from the Russian standpoint encompass the world. For any nation might under certain conditions join the federation. The thesis on national and colonial questions of the Third International states:

"Federation is a transitional form toward the complete union of the workers of all countries. . . . We must strive for ever closer federative connections, bearing in mind first the impossibility of maintaining the Soviet Republic surrounded by powerful imperialist nations, without a close union with other Soviet republics; second, the necessity of a close economic union of the Soviet republics, without which the restoration of the forces of production destroyed by imperialism and the assuring of the welfare of the workers is impossible; third, the striving toward the creation of a unified world economy based on one general plan and regulated by the proletariat of all the nations of the world."

Although this plan was laid down several years ago, it is now in practice. Only the existence of the United Nations and the dread of war with the United States prevents Poland, Bulgaria, Albania and Yugoslavia from being absorbed in such a federation immediately.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4—Pardon me, gentlemen of the sports pages—but this story about the great Seabiscuit belongs to me—or to be exact, to Warner Brothers, who have just bought the rights to the life and career of the noble steed from Charles S. Howard!

Charles S. Howard

Now that's a race track story what is a story, for Seabiscuit is probably the most popular thoroughbred ever to set four feet on the turf. No, he was not the greatest money earner. His $45,730 record has been far surpassed. But how the $2 bettors loved him!

When he died, taps were sounded on almost every course in the country and a bronze statue was erected to his memory at Santa Anita Park. I notice many of his colts are now racing, but so far none of them has come up to pappy. David Butler, owner of thoroughbreds himself, will direct this racing epic.

THE GREATEST PIECE of insolence I've ever heard of is the propaganda sent out by the Communist party offering to explain Communism to producers making anti-Communist pictures. We don't need Communism explained. We know its danger to our country all too well. They can whitewash it a thousand different ways, and it still remains the darkest menace in the world today.

I have in my possession a copy of the letter sent to producers by Jim Forest, educational director of the Communist party, enclosing a booklet, "Is Communism Un-American?" with nine questions about the Communist party answered by Eugene Dennis. Well, here's the motion picture industry answer—yes, it's dangerous. Yes, it's un-American!

EDDIE G. ROBINSON may not be the best gin rummy player in town (I happen to know his high on several "pigeon" lists)—but he's one of the best actors. And he gets many of the best roles.

Over the week-end, he stopped putting his name on losing rummy checks, to affix his signature to a deal to play the father in "All My Sons," the New York hit that won the Critics' Circle award.

Chester Erskine is producing this for U-I and you would be surprised at the top names who tried to get the Robinson role. It is a powerful story about a man who made money during the war years, confronted by the bitterness of his sons returned from the battlefields.

SAM GOLDWYN, JR., who has been in England for a year and a half, gets in town tomorrow to visit his mother and father. Sammy, who is a son to be proud of, has been associate producer with the Sidney Box Co., but his dad, who is plenty smart, wants him to have two more years of British training, and you can bet when Junior goes back, he'll go on the J. Arthur Rank organization.

When Rank came to see me, he said he considered Sam Goldwyn, Sr., as one of Hollywood's most able producers, and "one of the most charming." At that moment, Sam and I were not on speaking terms. We'd had our annual brawl. So I feel much better about printing this complimentary today, than I did then. But if I didn't fight with Sam every once in a while, life would be unbearable, because when he gets mad, I don't see how he can be topped, and he feels the same about me when I'm mad.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: After a couple of attempts at reconciliation, Steve Cochran will file suit next Wednesday to divorce Fay McKenzie.

What is all this business of husbands rushing to the divorce courts instead of the wives? There was a time when, no matter what the real trouble was, women always brought the action. Gallantry was the inspiration, and most people approved it.

A. Ronald Button, Steve's attorney, will charge desertion. Steve blames Fay's family, who never approved of the marriage, and the fact that she does not want to give up her career, and he adds:

"I'm hard to live with—let's face it. Maybe I'm to blame, too."

Tomorrow Sid Luft, Lynn Bari's ex, is filing his $25,000 damage suit through his attorney, Jacques Leslie. Luft will charge he tripped over a hose pipe when he stepped out of his car in a Hollywood filling station, and as a result had to undergo an operation for removal of a piece of cartilage in his knee.

Incidentally, Luft and Lynn have been talking over a possible reconciliation, and I think there is a 50-50 chance that they'll get together, as both say there is no one else—and they're still in love.

The Beverly Hills police have been keeping a sharp lookout around Betty Grable's home for over a week—in fact, ever since two prowlers somehow got past the electric gates.

One of the men showed up while Betty was shopping and told the servant the he had been hired to repaint certain rooms. The maid kept him at the door while the police were called but he became suspicious about the delay and fled. Then a second man showed up with the same story and also got away.

Police stopped cars in Coldwater Canyon for several hours after the incidents. Well, Harry James got back over the weekend, so now there's a man around the house to keep the girls from being nervous.

I RAN into Walter Winchell having dinner with J. Edgar Hoover, who is in Hollywood on business. I asked the FBI chieftain if it was Bugsy Siegel's murder that brought him to Hollywood.

He said no, that this is out of his jurisdiction but that he is investigating certain activities of Siegel and when he is investigating them even before the murder. He is here also to find out about the subversive element. He says he is sure there are not many in Hollywood but those that are here should be brought out in the open.

With J. Edgar in our midst, the undesirables had better take to their heels, because he's the man that's going to see that Los Angeles is rid of these undesirables.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Gale Storm, in private life Mrs. Lee Bonnell, pretty little Monogram actress, welcomed her third son on Friday.

Mrs. Jack Benny's dress caught on fire at a large party the Bennys gave Saturday night. Barbara Stanwyck wrapped her dress about Mrs. Benny and smothered the flames, but not before Barbara burned her arms.

The elopement of Jesse Lasky, Jr. and Marie Johnson is expected daily.

Barbara Cavanaugh, pretty Stork Club photographer, who has snapped pictures of hundreds of celebrities, is marrying Sig Shore, advertising executive. Renee De Marco is in Las Vegas, establishing residence. She'll divorce Judy Hutchinson, her second husband, even though she divorced him in Mexico some time ago.

Yvonne De Carlo and Howard Duff are as cool as we would like to see the weather.

The Darryl Zanucks have issued invitations to a dinner dance honoring Gen. and Mrs. Mark Clark. That will be really one of the parties of the year, as everyone will want to meet Gen. Clark.

Corinne Calvey's French boy friend better get over here in a hurry. She looked awfully happy dancing with Rory Calhoun at the Chanteclair. They were in a party with Ann Sothern and Bob Sterling celebrating Henry Willsons birthday.

The Rex Harrisons gave a party in honor of their house guests, the John Mills. Saturday night which was largely attended by the film crowd.

Anne Baxter has dropped 18 pounds and looks like a million dollars. Good girl, Anne.

Judy Garland's mother telephoned to tell me she thought Fay Holden ought to have a hand for giving some of the beauty operators an electric fan for their booths.

Robert Young, who now lives on a ranch near Carmel, was in town for a day and lunching at the Brown Derby with three of his daughters, dressed exactly alike.

Mrs. Modini Woods, one of Los Angeles' most loved women, died dangerously ill. She is Robert Stack's grandmother.

Louis Jourdan is one of the sufferers from sinus and is miserable. The smog in Los Angeles doesn't help him much.

Cary Grant is going to New York on his way to England. This time the reporters aren't asking him when he's going to marry Betty Hensel.

Ronald Miller gets new Tuesday to write a new "Mrs. Miniver" script for Lewy Carson. I hear Miller is handsome enough to be in pictures himself.

Donald Neilson is out of the French Hospital and as soon as he's well enough will go to Mexico to confer with President Aleman about the Mexican economic plan.

Carole Landis flies east tomorrow for a week of personal appearances at the Hippodrome in Baltimore and then on for a week in Boston. Speak of the Hippodrome, Bobby Rappaport, whose popular dad, Izzy, owns the theater, has been having the time of his life in Hollywood.

BERMUDA, Aug. 4.—His Excellency Wm. C. Clegg, Governor General, who also answers to the name of Admiral Sir Ralph Leatham—if you call him politely—has just put me in a peculiar spot. For all I know he has committed me to President Truman.

The blame, I feel, should properly be laid at the door of Mr. Sigmund Janas, president of Colonial Airlines. While we were off guard he got up and proposed a toast to the King, meaning George VI, who exercises sovereign sway over these islands, although some contend he hasn't been getting much exercise of late.

Well, we bottoms-upped to his majesty and were sitting down again, feeling all secure, when Admiral Sir Ralph scrambled up and, in a distinctly lively accent, demanded that we drink to the President of the United States.

I looked around furtively to see if there were any Republican spies in the joint, because I do not wish the finger on me this early in the campaign, but the only one I could see who might conceivably fall into this category was Mrs. James A. Farley. As you may have guessed she is the loving, but not always obedient, spouse of the hitherto-unsuspected litera-

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: POPPA TIME is working another significant change in the personality of upper Beacon st., beyond Massachusetts ave. . . . Once upon a time—and not so long ago—the Fensgate and the Charlesgate were residential hotels which catered to conservative and somewhat similar clientele . . . Neither establishment was licensed for liquor sales, and smoking was forbidden (believe it or not) in the dining room of the Fensgate.

THE DOWAGERS who partly tenanted both hotels made a picturesque display when they braved the outside air of a sunny afternoon, grasped the steering lever of their electric limousines, and embarked venturesomely for downtown and shopping. . . . The millinery stores got none of their trade. . . . Each of the nice old ladies owned a hat, and it was an odd-on bet that Queen Mary before she was the Dowager Queen, had loaned the original models of all of them. . . . These were the ladies whose tenancy of the facing hotels at the Charlesgate junction of Beacon and Court streets had given the atmosphere of the neighborhood.

COMES NOW the news that tenants of the Charlesgate—including two old ladies who have been residents for more than 30 years—have been given their notices to vacate on or before Sept. 1. . . . The expanding Boston Univ. has taken the property as a dormitory for female students. . . . When it is remembered that the Beacon st. block between Mass. ave. and Charlesgate West already includes some of the busiest and most overcrowded fraternity houses in Boston, the site of the B. U. dormitory for girl students at the top of the block suggests that a permanent change is upon us. . . . The most careful collegiate monitoring often loses out to proinquity, and the foundations of more than a few Americans hopes undoubtedly were in the making when the B. U. real estate selectors moved in so close to Fraternity Row and the nice old ladies—the last of them—have had to move out. . . . This department certainly is entering no complaint. . . . It is merely reporting another radical change wrought by Father Time on the faces of old Dame Boston.

MORE MUSINGS: An outgrowth, or offshoot, of the current Howard Hughes-Johnny Meyer-Elliott Roosevelt senatorial carnival will be the largest income tax suit ever filed by the Treasury Department, we are advised from Washington. . . . Lovely Lucille Ball has been interviewed by Sam Goldwyn on the prospect of Lucille portraying Jeanne Eagels in a motion picture to be based on the life of the ill-starred Jeanne of "Rain". . . . Like the Maid on whose life a playwright based the current "Joan of Lorraine"—we intend no irreverence—the lamented Miss Eagels is remembered as a girl in shining armor, the armor of a great talent which set her apart from lesser mortals and sheathed her against the vicious criticism which badgered the late years of her hectic life.

IF IT WILL give Miss Ball some confidence in considering Mr. Goldwyn's overtures to her to play Jeanne Eagels on the screen, Terry Turner, Sid Kiers and the ever-ready all of who knew Miss Eagels in her glory as the finest young dramatic actress in the land—can "see" Lucille in the role. . . . Miss Ball, who is doing a fine job in "Dream Girl," has the facial conformation which gave Miss Eagels her patrician appeal. . . . Lucille has a voice which could be "mixed" to resemble that of Miss Eagels. . . . And any adequate makeup artist could change her vivid coloration to the alabaster skin and the honey-hued hair which set Miss Eagels apart from her rivals. . . . Most important, those who have rejoiced at Miss Ball's unexpectedly excellent portrayal of "Dream Girl" believe she can do a more than adequate job in the acting department. . . . We hope that Lucille will pass this along to Mr. Goldwyn as a possible spur to his energies in the matter of doing the Eagels story on the screen. . . . It is replete with more drama than a 34-year span of life should hold. . . . But there were laughs aplenty in the tragedy of a great actress whose life came to a stop many, many years too soon.

teur, who has just ghostwritten a book by Walter Trohan on Elliott Roosevelt's father.

MRS. FARLEY created quite a to-do in 1944 by coming out for the GOP while her husband continued to be still a Democrat, although comparatively still. And, she confided grimly, while taking a boathride through Bermuda's beautiful blue lagoons, she plans to do the same thing again in 1948.

I took a long chance on Mrs. Farley not squealing, however, and drank to the President. If you want to know what I was doing with my other hand, I had it behind my back with my fingers crossed.

Later, I confided my misgivings to air prexy Janas and he was very comforting.

"I would not take it too seriously," he said. "You need not feel that you have been too definitely committed. You can be sneaky as usual and slay out from under."

Sobbing happily with relief I thanked Mr. Janas, and then asked him a question which had been mildly puzzling me—what was I doing in Bermuda? "Don't you remember?" he asked. "You came down with me."

WELL, IT ALL CAME BACK to me, I had been brooding in my hotel in Washington, wondering what life in the nation's capital would be like without a Congress or whether Henry Kaiser would ever supplant Senator Pepper in my affections, when Miss Kennan Hamilton, the beautiful ballyhooses, called.

"Why not come with us to the dreamy isles of Bermuda, land of flowers and sunshine!" she recited from the travel folder. "It will fill your soul with poetry and music and your eyes with loveliness almost too breathtaking to behold. You will also have the chance to see Frank Reagan in shorts."

The temptation was too great, so I went. How many mortals have beheld Mr. Reagan, president of the Biltmore and many other hotels, in shorts? Not only did I see him—but I saw him thrown out of the dining-room because of same.

Mr. Reagan, one of the most austere-looking magnates of our time, went native the minute he could find a secluded place to change. He was quite put out when the headwater stratted him—which seemed a bit unreasonable because he would probably have apoplexy if a guest tried to invade the Biltmore dining-room with bare kneecaps waving in the breeze.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Aug. 4 (INS)—A pint-sized female Billy Sunday from Los Angeles had evangelistic circles in England talking today.
 Renee Martin, 7, sang and clapped and preached her way through a three-hour revivalist meeting in West Bromwich, a suburb of Birmingham.
 She even played a hot trumpet for the congregation.
 Thousands of eager listeners caught Renee's spirit, and stamped the floor in unison as the little revivalist led them in prayer.

Q—When can iris be moved? How deep should it be set?

A—Iris can be moved from now until September. It should be set close to the surface, just enough soil to cover the rhizome.
Q—Can carrots be sprayed with fuel oil to control weeds?
A—Carrots can be sprayed with certain naphtha oils or solvents sold by oil companies. Ordinary fuel oil may cause serious burning.
Q—Our squash are covered with large black bugs which cause the leaves to turn brown.
A—They are squash bugs or stink bugs. Ordinary sprays are of little value. Lay pieces of boards on ground among the vines, where they will hide. Then kill them. Saibidilla, a new spray, is available in small amounts. It gives good control.
Q—We have been told that potatoes exposed to light will become poisonous. Is this true?
A—Have never heard of any such cases. Potatoes turn green when exposed to light and lose flavor and quality.
Q—Rottenness does not seem to kill our bean beetles. Why?
A—Be sure to get a dust that contains 5 per cent rotenone. If this material is fresh, it will definitely kill bean beetles.
Q—Most of our peaches have fallen, due to some insect which stings them. Can this be controlled?
A—This damage is caused by the plum curculio. Thorough coverage with arsenate as soon as fruits form and during July, will give control, but this is practically impossible for the home gardener.

Turn In Used Cooking Fats!

ask MARY MARGARET McBRIDE, Famous Radio Commentator

One of the finest jobs ever done by American housewives has been in saving used fats! Since 1942, over 800 million pounds have been salvaged. But, as Secretary of Commerce W. A. Harriman points out, the job still isn't over. "Not only the United States, but the whole world still lacks adequate supplies of fats and oils. And we in America are particularly short of industrial fats." These industrial fats, or their products, are needed to make many things we use every day. The used fats you turn in will help tide us over until supplies are normal.

Brushes Hair Thoroughly

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

IF HAIR hasn't a sheen... it won't have a thing. For hairdos are very, very simple for fall... actually plain, but carefully arranged. Glamor takes a holiday in the new coiffures... so it is incumbent upon hair texture to tell its own beauty story.

HEALTHY, gleaming hair is an all-time requisite... but for the new fall hairdos, severely plain and simple... hair sheen is a MUST, and no fooling. So start now and do as Arlene Dahl does... Each morning and night she divides her hair into four sections and brushes each section 20 times. For intermediate use... throughout the day... to preserve the newly acclaimed sleekness... there is a brush-comb combination, just returned to market after an absence of four years.

Rather Young for Romance

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am a girl of 16 and have been going with a fellow, 20, for about three months. His parents are foreign and my mother and father refuse to let me go out with such fellows. His parents don't seem to mind that I am not of their race.

I have been going out with him secretly, and I would like to bring him home to meet my parents, because we are very much in love with each other, but I am scared there would be trouble. Please try to help me out.

"MICKY."

It is certainly too bad that your parents do not realize what a fine thing it is for girls and boys of different background to become friends. There is no better way for young people to prepare themselves for helping to make this world a better place to live in than to take advantage of every opportunity that comes along to learn to know and understand those of other nationalities with other customs and other ideas.

It might possibly be, however, that your parents are just afraid of your rushing into a romance too early, and to use any excuse they can think of to try and keep you from becoming too much interested in any young man. I feel myself that you are still much too young to decide that you are "in love," and am sure you'd be wiser just to think of all boys as friends for a while yet, instead of getting too serious about any one of them. If your parents realize you are sensible enough to do this, you might find them more ready to let you go about more freely. Why not try this plan, and see if it doesn't make things go more smoothly?

Middy and Skirt in Grownup Duo

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THERE was something pretty and appealing about the way young girls looked in their muddy blouses and pleated skirts back in the days when Papa wore handlebar mustaches, and Mama padded her hair with "rats." The middy and skirt combination so pleasantly remembered has come back to fashion importance this year, but like the girls who used to wear it, it's a grown-up style now.

You see its influence in sophisticated dresses for afternoon, in suits for all day long and in lovely long-line styles for evening. The bulkiness of the old-time muddy blouse has been smoothed into a molded line in its 1947 adaptation and the starched pleats of its companion skirt have been given suppleness and fluidity.

The dress designed by Bruno and sketched today shows how this idea has been adapted. Made of sheer purple wool, the dress has a long, fitted bodice and a fully-pleated skirt that molds the hips. The V neck is finished with big, squarish revers, each revers highlighted with a jeweled button. The tie is light pink-purple silk.

Could it be anything else BUT... and be balancing background for the masterful and mighty millinery concoctions that will top the crowning glory... or soft-pedal the lush sweep of longer skirts so we won't be top and bottom heavy? You'll brush your hair for a merry fare-thee-well... until it glistens like the shine of a waxed and polished floor.

We say "you will"... actually, you must. Maybe you won't like the new hairdos with their center parts and ear-bun effects (remember the braided-doughnut hairdo days?)... but there is much in fashion a woman doesn't usually like but accepts, in true feminine adherence, nevertheless. Are we to be outdone by friends and neighbors?

We'll show you several versions of the new hairdos on Saturday... companion pieces for the new hats... but, today, we're concentrating on the brushing angle since it is the contingent necessity for conditioning the hair. At night you'll brush, brush, brush the hair with a full-sized brush... but the ultimate achievement of the fall hairdo and for intermediate use during the daytime to keep the sleekness of the hair intact... you'll use a prewar goodie, just returned to market.

SCIENTIFICALLY DESIGNED

It is a scientifically-designed combination of brush and comb... it was out of circulation for four years because of material shortages... that helps in the process of reconditioning hair for recaptured and requisite rancid. It introduces an entirely new principle and method of maintaining well-groomed, healthy hair and scalp.

That's because it features a criss-cross bristle brush which permits each shaft to pass between and through the bristles with an ever-increasing tension and friction that produces a cleansing effect as it approaches the tightly-packed base of the bristle turbs. In this brush-comb the top and bottom of the bristles function... thus brushing and cleansing each individual hair shaft completely in every direction... thereby stimulating the scalp and cleansing and polishing the hair simultaneously.

And it comes in a very convenient size. It can always be carried in the purse because it is light and durable... made of plastic and bristled with nylon. Both the brush and the comb are packed together in a handy container... and each may be used separately for its specific purpose.

It is small... about five inches long... with the comb fitting into the top-grooved edge of the brush. It is as much a hair nifty for a man... as for a woman. Its use is inconspicuous and it may be resorted to for that extra touch at any time.

For the name of this post-war brush-comb, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Serve Broiled Chicken With Wines and Herbs

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

CHICKEN DINNERS are an American summer menu tradition. There should be plenty of them, too, this season, for a good supply of spring broilers and fryers is ready for the market.

There are almost as many ways to prepare a broiled chicken as there are hostesses who serve it. One of the most tempting of the variations of broiled chicken comes from California. It is broiled chicken with wine and herbs. Despite its distinguished flavor, it is an easy way to prepare chicken. The halves or quarters of chicken are simply arranged on a broiler pan and brushed at intervals with a blend of sherry wine and salad oil to which salt, pepper, thyme and marjoram have been added. When the chicken is done, the juices left in the pan form the basis of the most flavorful of gravies. Snowy mashed potatoes, fresh garden peas, and tossed green salad are menu accompaniments perfectly keyed to the chicken entree.

BROILED CHICKEN CALIFORNIA

2 broilers (about 2 lbs. each) split in half lengthwise

Lemon juice, salt and pepper

1/4 cup sherry wine

1-3 cup salad oil

1/2 tsp. powdered thyme

1/2 tsp. powdered marjoram

Flour to thicken gravy

Simmer chicken necks and gizzards in water. Keep enough water on the simmering pieces of chicken to yield one full cup of broth. Season to taste with salt and keep for use in gravy. Sprinkle chickens with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Combine wine, salad oil and thyme and marjoram. Arrange chickens in broiler pan, placed low under the broiler. Brush with wine mixture. Broil about 20 to 25 minutes on each side (total about 40 minutes) brushing with wine mixture at intervals. When chicken is done, add broth to juices left in broiler pan. Allow to boil. Thicken gravy with flour to suit the taste. Shaking flour with twice its volume of water in a covered glass jar is a good way to slend it smoothly. Makes four servings.

MASHED POTATOES

Pare and boil 6 medium-sized potatoes; drain and shake over heat to dry. Force through ricer or mash well with wire or wooden masher. Add 3 tablespoons butter and 1-3 to 1/2 cup hot milk, beating until light and fluffy; add more milk if not as moist as desired; season to taste with salt and pepper. Keep over hot water until ready to serve. Pile lightly in hot serving dish, dot with butter and sprinkle lightly with paprika. Boil potatoes with jackets if more convenient; then peel, mash and season. Makes 4 generous servings.

Glasses of white table wine are ideal for service with the chicken. These wines are best after at least two hours in the refrigerator.

TOSSED GREEN SALAD

Wash lettuce well to remove all sand, and carefully to prevent bruising the leaves. Shake out all the water and store in a covered vegetable pan or bowl in the refrigerator. When ready to make the salad, break up the leaves into fork-size pieces, put in a bowl and pour on the dressing. Then with a large fork and spoon, toss the greens over and over until they are well covered with dressing. The dressing is made by mixing well 1-3 cup of olive oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar, salt, pepper, and a little paprika.

Roosevelt recommended the Hughes plane. He said the handbags were in a type of plastic called lucite.

The questioning went on: Ferguson—You remember ordering these?

Meyer—Certainly.

Ferguson—Will you tell us what this had to do with the production of aircraft for the United States government.

Meyer—It came under the field of entertainment.

Ferguson—Who were you entertaining?

Meyer—Entertainment in general.

Ferguson—Who were you entertaining?

Meyer—I was entertaining everybody.

CANNOT EXPLAIN

Meyer said he later sent back the wallets. He identified Miss Emerson as the recipient of one of the handbags.

Ferguson wanted to know again why the item was charged up to aircraft production.

"Because it was general entertainment, as practiced by every company in the business," Meyer replied.

Ferguson wanted to know whether this was a continuation of the Roosevelt entertainment. Meyer said he didn't see how it could be, that there was a difference of a year in the time of this item and other entertainment for Elliott.

Ferguson—Then you can't make any explanation?

Meyer—None whatsoever.

Ferguson then turned to an item of $125.02 for entertainment at the Barclay Hotel, New York, from Oct. 26, 1944, through Nov. 1, 1944.

This, the voucher showed, was charged by Meyer to the Hughes Aircraft Co. and labeled "Roosevelt Party."

Ferguson asked why this had been charged as entertainment for Roosevelt.

Meyer said he had explained previously that it was his practice to make out his expense accounts (two or three months after the occasion sometimes and to list the name of "the most important person in the party.")

The Meyer testimony was laying the background for questioning of Elliott Roosevelt.

Hughes Set to Leave For Probe Appearance

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4 (AP)—The camp of Howard Hughes was calm early today and there was nothing to indicate that the multimillionaire plane and film maker would not start his air journey for Washington, D. C., later today for his long-heralded appearance before the Senate War Investigating committee.

Hughes, whose wartime government plane contracts are under investigation by the committee, said earlier:

"I have announced that I will leave here Monday on a routine trip, arriving in Washington late Tuesday. That is what I intend to do and nobody is going to force me to do otherwise."

Last Thursday Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan, subcommittee chairman, issued a subpoena for Hughes to appear before the Senate group "forthwith."

U. S. marshal's deputies reported they were unable to locate Hughes.

Regarding this Hughes said through his press agents:

"I am not hiding from anybody. I simply refused to be pushed around at Sen. Brewster's whim."

"I was thinkin'..."

by Izzy Ort

Wow! Only 150 days for Xmas shopping! Ain't it wicked? Speakin' of time flyin' I kin hardly believe my ears that Anita ahh, "the Egyptian fire fly," has been dancin' in my Grille show for more'n two weeks! I see a pleasure to watch her do her dance of the frustrated harem girl that I ain't been conscious of the passin' of time! Sometimes I ain't been conscious! Compared to her wigglin' an' skillful dancin' a box of pretzels look more like fresh macaroni! She's the best thing in dancin' shoes since Chelsea became a city! My Grille show is really excitin' business wid her in it! If you ain't seen her, then you ain't been no place; yer strickly a hillybilly. She's gonna be more popular than a guy at a race track wid an inside tip! Of course, I improve my entertainment as I see new people. Currently, I gotta swell baritone, Johnnie O'Connor by name who looks like six of the best male movie stars an' sounds like echoes from the Metropolitan Opera. He sings "Shortenin' Bread," so well, I'm writin' to a Atlanta, Ga., bakery for some of the stuff! Tuesday Nite is Talent Search nite wid me at my Grille where I stage a hunt for good talent that deserves recognition. Every kind of talent is welcome an' so is customers. It's a barrel of fun! Remember, the gayest, gay afternoon an' night spot in town is Ort's Grille, 25 Essex Street.

Smart Set Assist UN Staff

By BETTY ALDEN

CONTRARY TO THE GENERAL impression that society girls spend all summer basking lazily on the beach and dancing most of the night, quite a group of them are devoting a five-day week as volunteers at the United Nations Center, 355 Boylston st.

Their part in helping to achieve a realistic world peace consists of varied map and art work, research on UN problems, assistance in preparing the weekly broadcast and arranging a series of song and folk dance programs for settlement houses and day camps about the city.

The girls include Edith Virginia Arnold, Chestnut Hill, Helen R. Swan, Weston, Janet Beebe, Charles River, Mary Heath Winslow, Brookline, all debutantes of the coming winter; Mrs. Priscilla Krancer, a war widow of Chestnut Hill, Brooks Parkman and Elizabeth Saunders.

They work under the direction of another society girl, Elizabeth Horvath of Chestnut Hill, a Bryn Mawr graduate who is assistant for education at the Center.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Barbara Bell of Chestnut st., who made a hit as one of the singing stars in the last Vincent Club show, is furthering her ambition to be a radio singer by enrolling for courses in microphone technique at Leland Powers.

Ellen Colt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Colt of Heath Hill, is visiting relatives at Naushon Island, Buzzards Bay.

Mrs. Jasper Whiting of Chestnut st. has traveled almost as much as a GI on her trip to South Africa. She is due to return this month for a visit at Dublin, N. H.

Glimpsed Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Talbot having a steak dinner with her mother, Mrs. Fuller Halsey (sister of former Governor Fuller) at the Hotel Somerset Terrace the other evening, and at a nearby table debutante Marcia Rees of Manchester having dinner with Sam Waugh, a guest at her June debut party.

THE WELLESLEY Summer Theatre, one of the popular straw hat ventures, opens its fourth week tomorrow evening at Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley campus. Buddy Elsen, stage and screen comedian, stars in "The Male Animal." Post doc Suzanne Stanborn of Boston will be backstage as one of the active members of the scene shifters and designers.

Among those attending this week will be Mrs. Edward L. Moreland, Mrs. J. Gordon Mitchell, Mrs. Mary M. Sampson, Mrs. John Harrod Foster, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McGill, Mrs. Forrest Hoffmehl, Mrs. George Henry, whose guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Murray Both, Mrs. H. A. Laing and Mrs. George Guernsey.

SPAGHETTI SUPPERS during the sunset hour at Plymouth Yacht Club are proving to be popular get-togethers for South Shore colonists. Enjoying the fun on a recent evening and topping off a hearty supper with pie a la mode were Mr. and Mrs. Ned Burgess.

New Building in U. S. Far Ahead of Last Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (INS) —The Commerce Dept. estimated the total value of new construction in the U. S. during the first seven months of 1947 jumped 35 per cent above the similar period last year.

Total new construction for the period ending Aug. 1, 1947, was estimated at $6,487,000,000 as compared with $4,806,000,000 in 1946.

Bucky Achieves Delayed Revenge Over the Red Sox

Austen Lake

By AUSTEN LAKE

BUCKY HARRIS, the marcelled manager of the New York Yankees, is not a malicious gent. But he's human and just now is enjoying a private matter of revenge. For though the debonaire ex-coal picker is no popper-off and not given to slinging loud language, he has nursed a 12-year-old grudge against the Yawkey Red Sox for dropping him down the drain in 1934. There is nothing that Bucky likes better than beating the Sox out of a pennant, unless it is beating 'em out of two or three pennants. So here he is, bench boss, of the league-leading Yankees, 13 games in front. And there are the Red Sox, limping along, and going nowhere but for the hayride.

This comes as a sugar coated surprise to Buck, who told me last March at Sarasota, "They (meaning the Red Sox) are a sweet combination. They have the pennant packaged . . ." Unless, he added, fickle fate plagued them with an epidemic of injuries and illness—which it did!

His "Worst Shock"

FACT IS, BUCKY NEVER ceased drooling envious dribbles over being given the foot in favor of Joe Cronin. And as late as last summer he was heard to sorrow over losing the Boston post, which he had extolled as the coziest corner in the game. That was long ago, but Harris told me last spring, "It was the worst shock of my life" and he recalled how he never climbed into bed during the year of '34 without giving himself a sweet, mental kiss for being bossed by so liberal a cash angel as Tom Yawkey. "It really flattened me," he added.

Yes, Bucky used to liken his Boston job to that of a kindergarten kid turned loose in a candy factory. His cheeks grew fat from smiling and he would gabble the happy hours away giving interviews to the press and glory in the prospect of giving his old Detroit and Washington teams a solid bust in the bitches. And he squeezed as much from the 1934 Sox as any manager could be asked to do, finishing fourth.

So when, one late autumn day, Yawkey hurried down to Washington and peeled a quarter million of dollars off his bank roll and ordered Buck to get down off his managerial horse so Joe Cronin could climb up, it came as a paralytic shock. It palsied Bucky's vocal chords for quite a spell, so he couldn't give any loud and agonized screams, as is customary in such cases.

But after a while when his paralysis thawed and he could whisper again he hustled down to Washington and asked could he have Cronin's old job, which he got. So when he recovered his voice he found he couldn't scream at the Red Sox, because now he was drawing his salary from Cronin's daddy-in-law. So he did his screaming silently and internally.

We who have known him since he was the original boy manager, know he has never been a man to flinch from paying off old indignities and, though a pleasant sort to meet over the teacups, has always been a splendid endurance hater who, before he quit as a player, was deemed one of the game's stoutest characters in questions of knuckle throwing.

Sugar Coated Hard Guy

AT FIRST MEETING HE gave the impression of softness, being addicted to high hand shakes and niceties of grammar in a soprano voice. And he also chummed around with George P. Marshall, the pomaded and sweet-scented owner of the football Redskins. So this led to some misapprehensions among the baseball players, until Buck invited them one at a time beneath the grandstand and fanned out their daylight or came coasting into the bases with his spikes aimed high at their softer spots.

So by the time he came to the Yankees last spring the athletes had stopped holding his social pretensions against him and allowed, if he wished to wear a dinner coat and play with the cafe society, he was entitled to the same respect as any ally scrapper with fists as large as Easter hams.

That is history now, how Bucky bounced from one job to another and wound up at a Detroit desk before fortune yoo-hoed him to the Yankees as field boss. And right away he was embroiled in trouble, with a shower bath rebellion on his hands due to Larry McPhail's autocratic attitude that ballplayers are not people but just so much raw merchandise. Bucky soothed the athletes, yet it was common opinion that dissatisfaction and mutiny still festered in the men's souls and people said, of which I was one, that discontented players are not winning players. So we said, "Well, Bucky has another hot potato."

He's had his share of tough luck by losing King Kong Keller with chronic lumbago, and having Chandler, Shea and Wensloff laid off lately. But his team is setting a proportionate pace with that of the Red Sox last year and he has the double delight of licking the Sox in 8 of their 11 meetings. The Red Sox collapse has warmed the cockles of his spite and, at long last, Bucky is savoring the sweet taste of revenge, more delicious for his 12-year wait!

Braves Home for Three Night Games With Dodgers

By BILL GRIMES

After a heart-breaking invasion of the Midwest, the Braves arrived in the Hub during the wee hours this morning to play three night games and a Thursday matinee with the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers, before embarking on a seven-day visit to New York and Brooklyn.

During their recent trip, the Braves dropped ten out of sixteen games, losing three and tying one series. Big Johnny Sain turned in one run of the victories, Charlie Barrett accounted for two and the third was credited to Ed Wright, although the Tennessee boy wasn't around at the finish.

Sain beat the Cubs, Cardinals and Reds. Barrett shut out Charlie Grimm's Bruins and yesterday he stopped Cincinnati, who played his ace, Ewell Blackwell, while Wright chalked up a win over the Pirates but not until Anton Karl had gone to his rescue.

One of the bitterest pills, Manager Billy Southworth had to swallow in the West was the failure of Warren Spahn to produce a single win in three starts. "Spahny" was beaten by the Cubs and Reds and although he wasn't charged with the defeat he was knocked out of the box by the Cardinals. And, Bill Voiselle, who has been on this trip. He fell before the Cubs, Cards and Pirates and then was relegated to the role of relief pitcher.

When they started West, the Braves were in second place and, in the opinion of the writers, believe what they read in the papers, pennant contenders. They are now holding on in the first division by the same margin they were trailing the first place Dodgers exactly two weeks ago. They must do as about fast and, if they are to continue in the money bracket.

Manager Billy Southworth sent Sain home from Cincinnati to rest up for tonight's contest with "De Bums." And, after what happened to them in Chicago, the Dodgers are expected to be a bunch of fighting "bums" tonight. The Flatbush boys were making a runaway race of National League classic, until they hit the Windy City. But, then, the Cubs turned on them and took three straight, which, of course, was a shot in the arm to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Before sending them out to meet the Dodgers tonight, Southworth will have a heart to heart talk with his boys. His club may be 10 games off the lead, but Southworth hasn't thrown in the towel. Personally, I do not believe that Southworth figured the Braves to win the pennant. He knows the caliber of the club he is piloting. And, it isn't a pennant contending team.

It lacks pitching and balance and, but for Southworth's uncanny ability as a director, it would have been in the lower bracket months ago. And, the fact that the Braves are still within reach of second place is a feather in Billy Southworth's cap.

Southworth is worried over his pitching corps. At this stage of the race, Sain is the only "stopper" available. Big John has won 14 games after a poor start, due to sinus trouble. Southworth was hopeful that Johnny Beazley would help matters, when President Lou Perini closed a deal with Sam Beardon for the big right hander. But, Beazley hasn't paid his freight. He didn't make this trip and has been undergoing more treatment for his arm and having his teeth X-rayed for the past two weeks.

When Beazley flopped, the Braves made a deal with the TODAY A YEAR AGO—Historian equaled Man O' War's world record of 2:40.4 for mile and 5-8, winning $50,000 Sunset Handicap at Hollywood Park.

THREE YEARS AGO—Len Franklin, 28-year-old Chicago fighter, died at Newark, N. J., 10 days after being knocked out by Larry Lane of Trenton.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Chick Harbert defeated Dutch Harrison 64-75 in playoff of St. Paul golf championship.

TEN YEARS AGO—Mike Jacobs became fistic "czar" by leasing Madison Square Garden and its outdoor arena, Garden Bowl, for two years, ending bitter feud with Garden management for control of New York boxing.

Giants—Mort Cooper for Bill Voiselle. Neither the Boston nor the New York club profited by that transaction, for both Cooper and Voiselle have been wash-outs.

After the Dodgers series, the Braves will hit the road again but only as far as New York. Over the week-end, they'll be at the Polo Grounds tangling with the Giants and then they will display their wares at Ebbets Field for three days.

Two Wins for Joe Verdeur

TYLER, Tex., Aug. 4 (AP)—Joe Verdeur of Brighton Drake Swim Club, Atlantic City, won the 300-meter individual medley—final event on the program of the National AAU swimming and diving championships last night—beating Joe Balmores of the Hawaii Swim Club by three lengths in a time of 3:59.2, over three seconds short of the record.

Verdeur became a double winner, having taken the 200-meter breast-stroke yesterday in a new National and American record time of 2:38.4. He finished as third high point man of the meet with 12 points.

Jimmy Melane of the New Haven (Ct.) Swim Club was high man with 18. Bill Smith of Ohio State was second with 14.

Ohio State won the team championship with 60 points. Second was New Haven (Ct.) Swim Club with 36 and Hawaii Swim Club was third with 32.

Bob Kiphuth May Get Olympic Berth

TYLER, Tex., Aug. 4 (AP)—Robert Kiphuth, coach of Yale University, is expected to be head coach of the United States Olympic swimming and diving team, it was learned last night from an authoritative source.

The national swimming committee, headed by Lawrence J. Johnson of Boston, met during the National AAU swimming and diving championships to recommend both the head coach and his assistant.

Johnson would make no announcement, explaining that Joseph L. Gardner of Chicago, assistant to the president of the U. S. Olympic Ass'n, had instructed him that any announcement would have to come out of his office. Gardner was acting in place of A. C. Bushnell of New York, president of the association, who is ill. None of the members of the committee would reveal who was recommended.

HOW THE STARS DID

By The Associated Press
TED WILLIAMS, Red Sox—Flied out to left, went out on a 350-foot line drive to right, grounded to first baseman, hit into a force play and singled to right with two out in the ninth. Had one putout, a fine running catch, getting the ball around his knees to rob Eddie Mayo.

ENOS SLAUGHTER, Cardinals—Walked twice, forced a runner twice—and flied out as the Cards outlugged the Phillies 10-3.

JOE DIMAGGIO, Yankees—Walker twice, popped up and flied out against Don Black and Bryan Stephens of the Indians as the Yankees eked out a 5-4 win.

WALKER COOPER, Giants—Extended his hitting streak to 15 straight games by getting three safeties as the Giants outslug the Pirates, 11-5, in the opener of a double-header. He smashed two singles and a double in five times at bat, scored once and drove in a run. He walked as a pinch hitter in the second game.

LOU BOUDEAU, Indians—singled in three official times at bat, laying down a sacrifice bunt in his other trip to the plate as the Indians were nipped by the Yankees 5-4.

JACKIE ROBINSON, Dodgers—Got two of the Dodgers' seven hits off Johnny Schmitz, a single and a double, and walked in four times at bat as the Dodgers were blanked by the Cubs 6-0.

Ipswich Anglers After Run of Striped Bass

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

IPSWICH, Aug. 4—Nearly every angler in this section must be seeking striped bass, judging from the numbers we observed plying their surf rods from the sandy stretches of inviting Crane's Beach. The enthusiasm may be spurred by the current Cape Ann Sportsman Club's Derby, too, which offers weekly prizes, as well as grand awards when the fishing fry terminates Sept. 15.

Most of the catches at this site have been made at night, on "minus," or low, tides, but we waded into the waves when the sun was shining, for we think half of the fun in surf casting is to stand waist-deep in the waters, clad only in bathing trunks. To we warn them that the water those not familiar with this area, here is very cold!

A stiff sea breeze cut down the distance of our casts with a wooden plug, so several backlashes later, we tied on a feathered jig, which proved more satisfactory. We fished for over three hours, with nary a nibble, finally deciding that a new spot might be better, when—WHAM!—a bass hit the jig, the reel screaming in surprise.

The stripper surfaced, then ran—and so did we, toward the beach. After 10 minutes, we managed to haul the fish on to the beach, where we ended its antics with a sudden blow from a club. This specimen was estimated to weigh nine or 10 pounds, not a large one, but delicious eating—and far less work to clean than a so-called "bull."

We probably caught a bass because we didn't have a gear with us. Everytime we do bring along one of these necessary implements, we come home without any fish!

ANGLING ANGLES: While

tell us—and we'll tell you," was the reply, typical of the laconic information usually supplied by sportsmen... Beach buggies are used occasionally at this rendezvous, although the "hot spots" are found within an area of two or three miles.

High rod here during the past two weeks has been Charley Standley, of Beverly, who has hooked more than a score of strippers, the fish ranging from eight to 20 pounds... Our beryllium copper rod caused quite a bit of interest, many declaring they intend to add same to their equipment.

Frank Leahy Speechless As He Coaches All-Stars

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 4 (AP)—The college football All-Stars, who 19 days hence will meet the Chicago Bears before some 103,000 fans in Chicago's Soldier Field, today launched a rigorous practice grind with head coach Frank Leahy speechless, or close to it.

Mentor Leahy of Notre Dame turned up with a case of laryngitis as he formally welcomed more than 40 Huskies from big and little colleges throughout the nation. Remainder of the full 61-player collegiate contingent was expected to trickle in day by day.

The Irish strategist was articulate enough, however, to emphasize that he means business in the two-day drills booked until a day or two before the Aug. 22 night clash with the Champion Bears of the National Football League in the 14th annual all-star classic.

Leahy may turn over bossing chores the first few days to his three chief aids, Wally Butts of Georgia, Marjorie Swartz of Stanford and George Munger of Pennsylvania.

But smiling Frank has a book of plays, maybe quite a few from his bag of tricks which swept the Irish to the national collegiate title last season, he wants to hand out in a hurry and chances are he'll waste little time grabbing the loud speaker that has been hooked up on the coaches platform at Dyche Stadium.

The all-star brain trust will be handicapped by the late arrival of four luminaries who can form a real "dream backfield"—fullback Doc Blanchard, halfback Glenn Davis and quarterback Arnold Tucker of Army, and halfback Charley Trippi of Georgia.

Blanchard and Davis, who recently finished making a movie in Hollywood, and Tucker won't be able to report until they receive new Army assignments.

Trippi, playing baseball for Atlanta of the Southern Association, will fly here Aug. 15, just a week before the all-star game.

Meanwhile, the Bears whose star rookie, Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma A. & M., was one of the early collegiate arrivals, are hard at work at Collegeville, Ind.

Owner-Coach George Halas of the professional club is an old hand at this all-star business. His Bear eleven played the Collegians to a scoreless tie in the 1934 first game and then triumphed 5-0 in 1935, 37-13 in 1941, 21-0 in 1942, and 24-21 in 1944.

Hapless Red Sox Leave For Washington Series

The hapless Red Sox who have had ill luck after their fine start on the recent home stay leave at 11 o'clock to-night for Washington where they play night games tomorrow and Wednesday. A daylight game Thursday with the Senators closes out this series. Then a hop home to meet the Yankees in single games Friday night, Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Mgr. Joe Cronin is reserving Joe Dobson for the chore against the Senators tomorrow night. Joe boasts a 12-6 record. Dobson was honored by 400 Pittsfield fans yesterday. The Pittsfield fans presented Joe a huge combination radio-phonograph.

Dobson's popularity with fans in that city was caused in a most unusual way. After the World's Series last fall Joe was on his way home when his car broke down in Pittsfield. He had to remain around a few days while repairs were being made. Joe makes friends easily and he certainly did on that occasion. So much so that the fans in that city sent down a large delegation to pay tribute to the big blond right hander.

One of the features of yesterday's debacle was the presence of 24,585 fans which carries the Red Sox home attendance for 49 games to 1,004,807. This is 12 days ahead of last year's record and the team was out front by a good margin at that time.

Little favorable comment can be written about the Sox as they took that 10-3 shellacking from the Detroit Tigers yesterday. The home forces used five pitchers and all were weak and feeble. On the other hand they were up against that master in clutches, Hal Newhouser. The Sox gathered 10 hits and seven walks off Hal but left 12 runners stranded on the bases.

The Sox used Denny Galehouse, Earl Johnson, Fritz Dorish, Mickey Harris and Bob Kling in that order. These Sox throwers were punished for 16 safe hits that went for 22 bases, which is hardly much of a show for a team that might still bear pennant hopes.

As the Yanks downed Cleveland yesterday the Sox now are 13½ games behind the leaders and only a half game ahead of Detroit.

There remains a good portion of the schedule to play but with the Sox getting worse rather than better the outlook is not too rosy.

BIRD'S-EYE VIEW

A pigeon had a bird's-eye view of every pitch and every play made in yesterday's Red Sox-Tigers game.

The bird was an involuntary spectator, its legs were caught in the grandstand screen. It tried to fly away everytime a foul struck the wire but couldn't pry loose.

The majority of customers were unaware of the pigeon's presence on the barrier but word of the bird's plight was broadcast and hundreds of radio listeners called Fenway Park suggesting that the game be halted until the captive was turned free.

However, the safety of customers sitting beneath the screen demanded that the ground crew wait until the conclusion of the game to get the pigeon loose.

Newcombe struck out 13 and didn't walk a batter.

8 Teams in Park Depr. Play-offs Billed Tonight

Eight Park League clubs survived the scheduled campaign completed last Friday night, and tonight the first round of the 18th annual two circuit playoffs begins. Only new, first-year-up club to make the playoffs was Hyde Square V.F.W. of Jamaica Plain, piloted by playing-manager Dave Campbell who drove his club into fourth in the East Division over Joe McLaughlin's Brookline Sign Club.

Boston Giants returned to the Park League after an absence of many years, so that the vaunted South End outfit could not be regarded as a brand-new entry. The Giants were conceded a playoffs spot before the race began, but Hyde Square beat out veteran clubs Brookline Sign, Owens and McCarthy.

West Roxbury opens against Hyde Square at Fallon tonight and Billy Connolly is due to pitch the opener against Jimmy Wilson from Hyde Square, while in the other East Division game, second-place Artesiani Club debuts at home, at Smith Field, with Dick Casey Club.

Burlington Man Wins Vermont Speed Race

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 4 (AP)—Ken Lonergan of Burlington, piloting a 150-horsepower inboard speedboat over three miles of choppy water, yesterday captured the Lake Champlain inboard racing title before an estimated 10,000 watchers.

Lonergan covered the course in both heats in four minutes, 55 seconds. In a race for large cruisers whose skippers were required to predict their time, the Patsy III, skippered by Thomas Tucker of White Plains, N. Y., took first place by three seconds over the Norad, captained by George Dufault of Montreal. Tucker was 14 seconds short of his predicted time, Dufault 17 1/2 seconds.

Lynn 9 1/2 Games Ahead in N. E. Loop

By the Associated Press
With the regular season in its last month, Lynn, Nashua and Manchester seem to have the first three berths sewed up in the New England League, while the other five clubs are fighting for the fourth playoff spot.

Lynn's Red Sox, 9 1/2 games ahead of second place Nashua, walloped the next to last Portland Pilots, 13-1, at Portland yesterday. The Sox scored six times in the first inning to sew up the game and the Pilots didn't get their single tally until the eighth.

The Dodgers, behind Negro star pitcher Don Newcombe who won his 15th, defeated the sixth place Lowell club at Nashua 9-3. Pawtucket's Slaters managed to stay in fourth place one game ahead of the Providence Chiefs as the teams divided an afternoon-night twin bill. The Chiefs took the seven inning opener, 10-5, with the Slaters fighting back from a five run deficit to Norad, captured by George Dufault of Montreal. Tucker was 14 seconds short of his predicted time, Dufault 17 1/2 seconds. Behind the gilt edged pitching
